PUBLIC HEARINGS TO DISCUSS SAD #44 BUDGET

The SAD #44 Board of Directors has scheduled a public hearing to discuss the proposed budget for fiscal year 1987 for Thursday evening, May 22, at 7 o'clock in the Telstar auditorium. All citizens are invited to attend. (A public hearing at the same location scheduled for Monday evening, May 26, has been cancelled.)

Woodstock's Board of Selectmen has also scheduled a public hearing concerning the SAD #44 budget for their citizens on Thursday evening, May 22, at 7 o'clock in the Woodstock Town Hall.

The annual budget meeting is scheduled for the Telstar auditorium at 7 o'clock, Wednesday evening, May 28.

Opposing positions stiffen on school budget proposals

After talking together for a number of weeks, it appeared this week that there was no longer anything for the school directors of SAD #44 and the selectmen of the five district towns to talk about.

While the selectmen met at Greenwood Town Hall to plan strategy for the May 28 district budget meeting, where they plan to introduce a $400,000 cut in the proposed $4.2 million school budget, the directors were meeting at Telstar, planning strategy for this Thursday's public hearing on the budget.

The school board sent letters late last week to the selectmen inviting them to the directors specially called meeting. Some selectmen claimed they never received the letters, and the group invited the directors to the already-scheduled selectmen's meeting. The school directors declined to attend. And so both groups held their separate meetings.

The selectmen, after weeks of bringing pressure to bear on the school board—forcing that group to define a possible $95,000 of cuts in their own budget—this past week were feeling pressure themselves, from teachers and students.

The selectmen complained that students were coming home from school saying their teachers were telling them sports and other extra-curricular activities will be curtailed if cuts go through.

"They're using scare tactics," said Andover's Raymond Hutchins. And fellow Andover board member Laura Hutchins said, "Bringing the kids into it—that's too much."

"I think they (the school directors) might cut from athletics, but there's other places they can cut," said Bethel Selectman Pat Doon.

Newry Selectman Steve Wight—the only selectman against cutting the budget—said, "Then you should suggest where those places are."

Woodstock Selectman Cliff York, moderating the meeting of the 16 selectmen [one Bethel selectman was missing], said, "They'll cut where they want to anyway (if cuts are voted for)."

Mr. York emphasized that what the selectmen were doing was not really proposing to cut the budget itself. "We're not cutting the budget; we're cutting the amount of increase." [The amount of increase originally proposed was $750,000.]

The selectmen agreed to propose from the floor that Art. VI of the district war-

Andover student to see dedication of Miss Liberty

Toby Farrington, an 11-year-old Grade 5 student at Andover Elementary School has been chosen the Maine winner in the Christa McAuliffe student essay contest on the Statue of Liberty.

Toby's name was selected in a random drawing in Augusta last Wednesday by Jane deFrees, chairman of the state Board of Education.

Each state winner gets a free trip to New York City to attend the July 5 rededication ceremonies of the Statue of Liberty. The contest, dedicated to the memory of Christa McAuliffe, is sponsored by the National Association of State Boards of Education.

Fifth-grade teacher John Emery submitted Toby's essay in the contest. Mr. Emery will accompany Toby on the trip. Toby's selection as the state-wide winner in the contest was announced last Thursday by Andover Principal David Murphy at a school assembly, attended by Toby's mother.

Toby's essay reads as follows:

"Our Statue: Teacher of Liberty
"When people from France first saw the statue, instead of seeing a statue, they actually saw freedom. Even though I've never seen the statue, I know what freedom is. Freedom is being able to go into space, like Christa McAuliffe did. She followed her dream like many people coming to this country have, and like some, died for her dream of freedom."

DEP gives approval for W. Paris cement plant

The state Department of Environmental Protection has approved the permit application of Dragon Products Inc. for operation of a cement mixing plant in West Paris.

Located behind Cooper's Farm Market, on Rte. 26, the new plant will comply with all DEP air emission standards. The cement from the silo, along with sand and aggregate, will be transferred via conveyor belts to a weighing hopper, which will be vented back into the silo.

All access and working roads will be treated with water, calcium chloride or other means to reduce visible emissions resulting from traffic or wind action.

All piles of sand or aggregate will be treated with water or other control material to prevent visible particulate emissions.

The plant will have a capacity of 10 pounds per hour and 100 pounds per day. The plant opened for operation this Monday.

How to undermine education

Effective school education takes place only when the teachers, the school administration and the parents of students are in agreement as to what constitutes a proper teaching environment.

Certainly one of the basic elements of a proper teaching environment is a healthy student-teacher relationship. And part of that relationship is respect for teachers and administrators on the part of students.

One would think that parents and teachers would try to foster that kind of respect. But that seems to be not the case.

In Norway we have the case of a parent—the pastor of a local church—taking the school district to court because the assistant principal of OHHS had suspended her son for allegedly “giving the finger” to one of his teachers. (The case is in federal court in Portland.)

In Lewiston, the teachers' union is complaining about administrative suspensions of Lewiston High students who walked out of school in support of the union's demands in a contract dispute.

Both the Norway mother and the Lewiston teachers argue that students have the constitutional right of freedom of expression, whether by walking out of school or by “shooting a bird.”

That may well be. But more importantly, students have a responsibility to go to class and to show respect to the teachers and administrators of their schools. Placing rights before responsibilities may make the adults involved feel good, but it is doing a disservice to the youngsters whose job it is to learn all they can while they're in school.

Without a student-teacher relationship based on respect for authority, very little teaching—and very little learning—will take place in our schools.

The Rev. Cheryl Klein, the mother of the OHHS student who allegedly showed disrespect to his English teacher, said she is pursuing the matter in the courts in order to determine, “How far does the school's authority go. Where does the school's authority end?”

This is an interesting legal and philosophical question. A more important question, however, is: How can the school's authority be strengthened in an age of the general weakening of the community's fabric?

The Rev. Klein also said, “It's not my intention to defend the making of obscene gestures.” And she added, “I'm a Universalist-Unitarian and believe in living out the creed I believe in, foremost of which is honoring civil liberties.”

The Lewiston teachers' union is also concerned with civil liberties. Isn't anyone concerned with a healthy learning environment? bfw

School budget should be cut

A school system, like a town or a household, has many needs. And just like a town or a household, a school system must budget for those needs, plan ahead, and live within its means. While the proposed $4.2 million school budget may be worthwhile insofar as satisfying needs of the school system, it is impractical insofar as it exceeds the means of the area's taxpayers.

As the debate continues over the proposed budget, with its 52 percent increase in school assessments to the towns, one fact has become perfectly clear: The school board, during its budget deliberations, did not take into consideration what the bottom line would be for the towns. Rather, the board concentrated on keeping the gross budget increase somewhere between the 10 percent annual rise deemed acceptable and the 20 percent rise deemed necessary by the administration. All concerned compromised on a 16 percent increase—comparing the current year to next school year.

This method of budget preparation was a real mistake, and some school directors and district administrators are now pointing fingers at each other and at the state board of education to place blame. No matter who was ultimately to blame, the fact of the matter is that the representatives of the people on the board did not ask early enough or loud enough, “What effect will this budget increase have on the taxes to be assessed on my constituents?” Very likely the mistake in procedure will not be made again, following this year's surprise at the end of the budget-making process.

School district board members say they cut a number of funding requests, such as paving the road in back of the high school. Fine, but they should have cut more.

Unless this 52 percent assessment increase, which will equate to tax increases of generally 25-35 percent for most local taxpayers, is a one-time aberration in order to make up for past neglect, it cannot be justified. No school official has come forward to say it is an aberration; and, therefore, the conclusion must be that it's unjustifiable.

As has been explained previously, the increased amount of money to be raised locally—$747,000 more than last year's $1,404,000—can be broken down into revenue shortfalls and spending increases. State revenue is down $128,000, while other revenue is down $41,000.

Discounting these decreases, the proposed budget still shows $578,000 of spending increases. Over half of this is made up of salary and benefit increases for the 173 people who receive district paychecks. The remainder is made up of improvement in classroom materials, buildings, buses and instituting new state-mandated positions.

While much of the focus of the discussion on where to cut the budget has focused on these improvements and state-mandated positions, the fact is they account for only a small part of the overall budget.

The school directors, under pressure from the selectmen of the district towns, have re-opened the whole question of allocation of scarce resources, which is what budget-making is all about. They decided they could cut some of the increased spending. And on the revenue side, they discussed bringing into the budget over $103,000 from the state that they had held in reserve and did not list as revenue anywhere in the proposed budget.

The selectmen of the five district towns, on the other hand, feel that $400,000 should be cut from the budget in order to keep local tax bill increases for schools in the mostly 10-15 percent range instead of in the 25-35 percent range.

In truth, more cuts can be made in the proposed school budget than those enumerated by the school directors. Savings can be found by cut-

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

On May 28, at 7 p.m. in the Telstar auditorium, residents of the towns of Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry and Woodstock, will be asked to vote on the MSAD #44 Budget. For the first time since the school district was formed the selectmen of the five towns have joined forces to study the impact of this budget upon their municipalities. The budget proposed by the school board, in direct assessments to these towns has increased $746,984 or 53.3 percent over the previous year.

An increase of this magnitude was the catalyst and your selectmen were shocked into action. We studied the reduction of state monies ($127,786) and the loss of other revenues ($41,371). We discussed with the school board the affordability and the necessity of this increase. We then decided that $400,000 should be cut from the budget. If passed the towns would still be paying $346,981 more than last year.

As responsible people we do not want to see the quality of basic education decline. However more money or greater spending does not assure better education. We cannot and should not suggest, dictate nor demand where reductions should be made. This is the responsibility of the school board members who elected to represent you.

The statement was made by Jane deFrees, chairman of the state board of education, that it was a question of pay now or pay later. I disagree — Sen. Twitchell and Rep. Joe Walker assured us that the problem of state mandated programs and salaries was one the legislators would have to address. So—pay now or later is not a valid assumption for anyone to consider. What we must consider is affordability—affordability to fund the budget.

(See display advertisement, page 14.) Unfortunately towns in a district are denied a basic process granted to towns or cities that are not part of a district. Review and approval by the selectmen is not required prior to presentation to the voters; yet that budget is the largest expenditure the towns are responsible for. Unique and unfortunate, as I feel that we are as a group well aware of the total social responsibilities of the community.

Our decision was not made lightly. We need your support at the budget meeting. In the past these meetings have been poorly attended—this year we've witnessed selectmen from our five towns in MSAD #44 working together now let the public come forth—attend and vote. The voters are advised that the selectmen are recommending the following amounts:

Article VI be passed in the amount of $550,728;

Article VII be passed in the amount of $3,755,267;

Articles II, III, IV and V should be passed as written.

Regarding Article VIII, the selectmen (although they felt that the adult education program should be self-supporting) have made no recommendation for this article.

Patricia C. Dooen

To the Editor:

We would like the public to know that we care about the effects of possible cuts in the school budget. We fear that these cuts would jeopardize the quality of our education here at Telstar. We feel that we are entitled to a good education which includes many different academic and non-academic courses as well as extra-curricular activities.

In closing, we ask you this, if you were in our shoes, wouldn't you want the chance to have the good education and school that we want? Please consider not only the effect of the budget on your taxes, but the effect that it would have on the school, students, and teachers before you make your decision.

ting teaching positions, or salaries, or programs (existing or proposed) or physical plant and equipment. Any cut will hurt someone, but deeper cuts will have to be made.

There are some supporters of the proposed budget who say it is illogical to propose budget cuts unless one specifies what line items are to be cut. If that is the case, then the budget presented to the taxpayers should have the line items in it.

In general terms, however, the school budget is made up 71 percent of salaries and benefits and 29 percent for physical plant, materials and equipment. It seems clear that some items will have to be put on hold—either the 5½-10½ percent increases in salaries and benefits or the improvements in plant, materials and equipment—or some combination of the two.

To the Editor:

On Wednesday evening, May 28, the voters of SAD #44 will be asked to render their verdict on the district's budget for fiscal year 1987 (July 1, 1986-June 30, 1987).

The total budget as approved and recommended by the SAD #44 Board of Directors is $4,206,917 (including adult education—$51,650). Of this gross amount a total of $2,171,035 would be assessed to member towns of the district.

The local responsibility of $2,171,035 is 52.8 percent greater than the comparable amount of a year ago. The fiscal year 1987 total translates into assessments to the towns as follows (with percentage increase over 1986): Andover, $588,785, 60 percent; Bethel, $708,192, 49 percent; Greenwood, $305,899, 46 percent; Newry, $294,294, 60 percent; and Woodstock, $363,865, 51 percent.

The increase in the local share of the FY 1987 budget is caused by several factors: a reduction of state subsidy, loss of state share of local leeway, and a smaller balance from prior fiscal periods available; as well as the inclusion of several items such as replacement of the remaining original oil burner at the Telstar complex, portable classroom units (equivalent of three classrooms) to relieve a space problem in the Bethel schools, interest on the bonds for the Woodstock school.

We realize the impact of the local share on the property taxpayer. Bethel is the only district town that would feel it all in the first year, as the other towns will use one-half of their assessment for the FY 86 budget plus one-half of the FY 87 assessment in computing current year taxes.

Recognizing that many facets of the budget are arguable and the need for many of its provisions debatable, we urge all district voters possible to attend the public hearing at the Telstar auditorium at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 22, and the Annual District Meeting on Wednesday, May 28, 7 p.m., at the same location.

The majority of the Board of Directors support the budget for fiscal year 1987 as approved on April 14.

To the Editor:

I am a student from Telstar and I plan on graduating next year. I have waited for my senior year for 13 years with the thought of some extra time to maybe take an outdoor school sport, go on some field trips and really enjoy my senior year, but this will never come if the budget is cut.

I think of the children coming up through the elementary, who already have crowded classes, who also need guidance and who are going to need new textbooks and workbooks (the ones they have now are so old they're falling apart). They will never see any of these things.

The children that are coming up need education, guidance and enjoyment. It will be very sad if they do not receive these things, so I am writing this to ask you to please, parents and students, attend the May 28th budget meeting at Telstar (7 p.m.). Vote and fight against the budget cut—for the children of tomorrow.

To the Citizens of SAD #44:

Having served on the Board of SAD #44, we believe that the budget reduction proposed by the selectmen of our towns is both responsible and necessary. We hope that you will attend the meeting on May 28 and support them.

June 15 the chamber will be setting up a display at the New England Vacation Center at Rocketteller Center in New York City. The display will promote the Bethel area as Maine's great vacation area.

The chamber received a letter from SAD #44 requesting attendance at the May 28 district budget meeting.

A special meeting will be held next Tuesday, May 27, at 7:30 a.m., at Bethel Furniture Stock. All are welcome to attend.

THE BETHEL INN & COUNTRY CLUB formally opened its new conference center, on Broad Street, Bethel, last Saturday, with a reception attended by hundreds of guests. The center was dedicated—as indicated on the plaque on the fireplace (above)—to the memory of Charles J. Bill Jamison, of Cincinnati, Ohio (second from left)—the widower of Kaleel Jamison—and Joan Kennedy, of New York City (second from right)—the widow of Charles Kennedy—were on hand for the occasion.

To the Editor:

The annual district budget meeting for SAD #44 will be held May 28. At that time residents of the five towns in SAD #44 will have the opportunity to vote on the proposed budget for FY '87.

When the Board of Directors first started talking about a 16 percent increase in the budget over FY '86, I felt that this was quite an increase, but something we could live with. However, it turns out that that 16 percent increase in the budget amounts to an overall average increase to local taxpayers of 52.8 percent.

For Andover and Newry this amounts to a 60 percent increase over FY '86. This is just more than the taxpayers can stand.

Although the majority of the Board of Directors seem to feel that this increase is necessary, there is a limit to what the taxpayers can stand. I feel that there must be some areas where the budget can, and must, be cut. If this budget is passed this year, what will happen next year?

If the taxpayers do not want to be faced by a large increase in their taxes this year, May 28 is the time to get out and vote for a cut in the proposed budget. In the past, taxpayers have not bothered to get out and vote. The budget meetings have been packed with school personnel and any budget proposed by the Board of Directors has passed. Two years ago, when a motion was made to cut the budget, the motion was not even put to (a) vote. The people just either have to get out and vote on May 28 or be faced with a large increase in their tax bill.

With an overall budget of $4,155,267 (proposed by the directors for FY '87) less $1,850 for Adult Education, leaving $4,103,617, we have a per pupil cost of $3,495.41. Figures given to me for FY '86 show a state average per pupil cost of $2,434 for secondary and $1,835 for elementary.

This means an increase of 63.8 percent over state average per pupil cost, assuming that 50 percent of the pupils were elementary and 50 percent secondary. I find it rather hard to believe that SAD #44 costs per pupil should be that much over state average.

I feel that the superintendent and Board of Directors should get together and come up with a reduced proposed budget to present to the voters on May 28. I realize that this could be difficult and the directors have already put a lot of work into preparing the budget, but a 52.8 percent increase in the budget is just not acceptable.

I feel that if the state is going to mandate these programs that the Legislature should come up with some way to finance them other than the personal property tax.

I am not against education; I realize that it is very important. But we just have to have a broader-based tax than the property tax to finance it.

If the people do not want a large increase in their taxes this year they have to get out and vote for a cut in the school budget May 28. Two years ago, at a meeting before the district budget meeting, we were told the district needed more money because of increased enrollment for the next fiscal year. Now we are told that they need more money because a smaller enrollment means less state subsidy.

Further, I believe that the school district report should tell us what happened to the money we appropriated the year before. There is nothing in the report that tells how the money was spent. I feel that that is what a report is for, to tell where our money went, not just reports from superintendents, principals, departments, etc. We want to know how our money was spent.

I also feel, although I know that most people I have talked to do not agree, that the towns should insist on a line budget.

Roger E. Hanscom
Newry

To the Editor:

Our annual district budget meeting takes place May 28, 1986. We urge all citizens to come and vote. We have lived and taught in Bethel for over a decade and feel deeply about the children in this district. It is important that they receive the best education possible so that they are able to compete equally with others after graduation. Parents, teachers, and administrators have the same goal. We all want what is best for our children. Therefore, when we vote at the district budget meeting, we must ask responsibly. We must not cut out programs which will cut our children out of the competition.

Mike and Linda Gilbert

To the Editor:

I have been reading about the proposed budget and am very concerned. I am a junior at Telstar and participate in sports and a lot of extra-curricular activities. I hate to think that next year I won't be able to participate in anything. It will seem like a prison here at Telstar High. There will be nothing to do. Kids will lose contact with each other; especially the ones who live in towns like Andover and Bryant Pond. Without late buses no one can stay after school for anything and then we really will have no school spirit.

Another thing is the problem of colleges. Any student planning to go to college or vocational school or any post-graduate education has to deal with the problems of being accepted to a college. Since colleges look for well-rounded students, most of the students at Telstar will be unqualified to get into a school of their first choice. And with the proposed budget, there will be no activities for students to participate in.

I know that some of the taxpayers are willing for the cuts so that they will not have the increase in taxes, but wouldn't they rather have a well-educated student than an uneducated student? I know my mother is concerned for the proposed increase, but she also wants me to go to college and make something of myself.

I urge you to oppose the proposed cuts in the budget. It means a lot to many students at Telstar Regional High School. Thank you.

To the Editor:

With all the recent discussion regarding the proposed budget of SAD #44, there has been much speculation about what, if anything, will be cut.

The first thing that may come to the community and school board mind is to drop extra-curricular activities. This to me is absurd.

If extra-curricular activities were to be cut, what incentive would that give the student enrolled in school to participate in drama, band, or athletics, to stay in school.

Some may say that school is for learning and to that I say you do learn. By also participating in these extra-curricular activities: you learn for example, good sportsmanship, how to get along with your peers, self discipline and many other things just as valuable as history, math or English.

Count this as you may as my vote not to drop extra-curricular activities at Telstar.

To the Editor:

As students of Telstar Regional High School, the words “budget cut” bring us a feeling of dread. With the proposed reductions of $400,000 out of the budget, many valuable extra-curricular activities and academic opportunities will cease to exist.

Extra-curricular organizations provide students with a chance to challenge themselves outside the classroom. These programs allow us to grow in character in order that we may be of some value to the community of today and tomorrow. For example, let us consider the topic of college admissions. Colleges are looking for the well-rounded student, the student who has participated in sports, math league, yearbook, band, etc. If these programs are abolished, this will become an impossibility.

It is evident that with these cuts we will lose quality teachers, resulting in overcrowding, less individual attention, and overburdened instructors.

Without athletics and other activities in which to participate, we feel the overall physical fitness, general well-being, and school spirit of the student body and faculty would greatly decline. We the students may not be aware of all the facts, but if cutting these vital educational programs is intended to be the correct solution for reducing the budget, we believe that the individuals who want to terminate these activities perhaps are not aware of all the facts. In order to learn more of the situation, we ask you, the taxpayers, voters, parents and students to attend the informational meeting on May 22 in the Telstar auditorium. We feel it is our responsibility to voice our opinion, for it is our future which will be affected by your vote.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Board of Directors met yesterday at Bethel Furniture Stock and the following issues were discussed.

Blue Cross/Blue Shield coverage for chamber members is still in limbo. A BC/BSS official told the chamber this week that they have too many other obligations this year: to be able to sign up the chamber at this time. In the meanwhile, the directors are looking more closely at the United Chambers plan.

May 30 is the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet. Tickets are available at the banks and through the directors. There will be a social hour, starting 5:30 p.m., at the Bethel Inn's conference center, with hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar, followed by dinner in the South Dining Room of The Inn at 6:30 p.m.

To the Editor:

When our daughter was less than a year old, a neighbor called and asked me to go to a town meeting with him. The message was simple: now that I was a parent as well as a citizen, it was my responsibility to stay abreast of what was going on in the town and in the schools. That was in the spring of 1980 in a small town in central New Hampshire; the topic for discussion that evening was the school budget.

We have just heard that the selectmen in Bethel and the surrounding towns have decided to buy advertising... to promote a budget cut of $400,000. The members of the school board have spent long hours researching and discussing the 1986-1987 school budget for SAD #44 as well as listening to the requests of teachers, parents, and others concerned about the well-being of the students in this district. They are taxpayers also, and they stand to be hurt as much as anyone if the tax rate is raised.

We are not just dealing with our own tax bills; we are dealing with the education and future of the children in this community. Before any of us make the decision to support a $400,000 cut in the school budget, we need to educate ourselves as to what those cuts would do to the schools. The school board budget meetings were open to citizen questions and comments; how many of us attended? How familiar are we with the school programs the budget supports? How many of us have read the school budget report we received in the mail last week?

This is an important issue and one that should not be voted on in haste. If you feel the proposed budget needs to be cut more than it was last week, please do some research, visit the schools, examine the annual report, and give the schools the time they deserve before jumping on the bandwagon and casting a vote we all may regret later. If you do find programs that you feel are unnecessary in the proposed budget, make your feelings known to the school board Thursday evening; but let's talk programs and children, not just dollars and cents. We can make the meeting on May 28th one that we remember for bringing our communities together in the children's best interest.

To the Editor:

The American democratic system which we treasure as the foundation of our way of life greatly depends upon informed citizens and adequately trained youth to promote, guard and protect our system from generation to generation. The survival of democracies such as ours requires the ongoing support from citizens like ourselves at all levels: municipal, county, state, national and world.

Homes, churches and schools are clearly institutions of care and training where the youth, who are the continuing lifeline of a democracy, acquire their own concept of our way of life and prepare to become a part of it.

Our sons, daughters, nephews, nieces, grandsons and granddaughters are that lifeline of the democratic way and all are passing through our school system. Each will seek out a place in our society—dairyman, teacher, doctor, seamstress, editor, baker, etc. Schools play a critical role in assisting youngsters to develop the competitive skills, the confidence and the fortitude to become successful members of our democratic society.

The educational system of a community, county, state or nation is the caretaker of the future.

In a democracy, we the citizens are entrusted with the duty of supporting and assisting the educational caretaker.

If the citizen support is weak and lacks will and determination in providing suitable training for its children and youth, then the future well-being of that community, state or nation may be at risk....

Unfortunately, when it is revealed that school costs are increasing, some citizens immediately panic without careful investigation of the matter. Questions like: What is the increase? How will it affect my taxes? What does my tax increase come out to per month? How have the school cost increases of the past three or four years affected my taxes? Why is there an increase this year and what is it for? Is the reason for an increase a worthy one? Does it contribute to the value of our children's opportunities? Does it permit them to become competitive in today's world?

The present school budget proposed affects each community in SAD #44 differently. How does it affect your community and your property?

Some citizens are against increased school costs, no matter what the reasons are surrounding the matter.

And some who are extremely opposed to rising costs may even provide misinformation.

In the American workplace it is widely recognized that "labor" represents more than the "lion's share" of production cost. So, too, is this true in the educational world. Teachers' and administrators' salaries represent a very large proportion of school costs.

Some citizens berate, condemn, and even despise teachers for the very moderate salaries which they receive for carrying out the goals of our school system for the well-being of our youngsters as they prepare to compete in a complex and "high-tech" society.

One bit of information which should be made available to all citizens in SAD #44 in regard to salary costs, teachers and budget is that Maine is number forty-sixth (46th) out of fifty (50) states in supporting teachers' salaries nationally and the dollar separation between 46th and 50th is small. Coupled with Maine being 46th, it should be recognized that 1984-85 teaching salary statistics gathered state-wide placed the beginning teacher's

During this too-brief period, he refined his youthful resolve to assist others into the mature and quiet determination of a dedicated public servant.

He was not quiet all the time. He had a lively sense of humor and frequently participated, often instigated, and sometimes was the good-natured target of the pranks so necessary to lighten the heavy load of group effort.

Larry contributed countless hours to the department and to the Bethel community, often compensated solely by his satisfaction in a task well done. He was always ready and willing to help out. He will be greatly missed.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the article that was published in the Citizen some time ago on the great real estate boom in the Bethel area.

Roger (Conant) made the comment that, it would be hard on the local people. He was 100 percent correct in saying so.

With real estate so ridiculously high in Bethel, and the local people working for such low pay, it is quite impossible for them to buy enough to eat let alone purchase a piece of property.

I realize that there are those in Bethel who are against industry coming in, but, with the town's tax rate being one of the highest in the state and still climbing, we should welcome anything that come along, Bethel needs more industry and what are "foggy bottoms" doing about it.

Maybe they would like to see us go back to working 10 hours a day for one dollar like some of my fellow peons did. And no nine o'clock coffee break.

Condos are exactly the workingman's idea of industry.

The town wanted a new dump truck, to the tune of about $50 grand, but changed their mind about it. A smart move. SAD #44 and Adult Education are fishing for an increase in their budget. The teachers are looking to raise the ante, and several other organizations have their hand out.

How much more can the poor people, and there are a lot them, stand before they start to revolt.

It is things like this that makes a person wonder why they hung Mussolini. The day is coming, and that day isn't too far off, when the public trough will be running dry in Bethel, and then what?

As one of the older residents of Bethel, I have watched the town go down hill for the past 45 years. Oh no you say? Well, as Al Smith would say, "Let's look at the record."

We had 7 grocery stores, a nice bowling alley, a pool room, a Monte Carlo, an excellent movie theater, 4 good doctors, several clothing stores, 3 shoe stores, several community halls, and 5 garages, where you could get your car fixed, if it broke down.

What do we have left? Is this progress? I think not.

They wonder why the local people go to Gorham, Rumford, Norway, and Lewiston to shop. It isn't hard to understand. A blind man, with the alcoholic tremors, could tell why.

Frederick McMillin

P.S. Back in the 20's and 30's we had as many banks as we do today, the savings bank and national bank.

salary for SAD #44 last—at the bottom of the state average. Hence, it can be said that the teacher salaries in this district are at the bottom of a state average which itself is at the bottom nationally. The State of Maine made the front page of "U.S.A. Today" most recently because of its being among the bottom four states in support of teachers' salaries.

Let us hope that there are none among us who would use "teachers' salaries" as a reason to condemn educational opportunities for our youngsters.

In our democracy we nominate and elect people to offices to do a variety of duties in the name of the citizens.

Members of the SAD #44 Board of Directors have acted in the name of the citizens and the children of our communities in making recommendations based on information presented to them over a period of time involving many meetings and consultations.

The school budget which we will soon be privileged to vote on provides us an opportunity to consider programs and accommodations which have been examined by teachers, administrators, citizens and board members. These programs and accommodations are designed to serve our young people not just for the 1986-87 school year, but for the years to come.

Interruption or abandonment of these items leads to chaos and instability—and that always works against the interest of our youngsters.

Broken budgets, shattered spirits and low morale is often more expensive (in terms of depriving our youngsters) than it first appears.

In the name of our youngsters and the maintenance of a supportive school system I urge you to fairly examine the whole matter.

Our youth needs our support now while we can help them most in building the confidence, the skills, and the determination to succeed. Attend the district budget meeting on Wednesday, May 28, and voice your support on behalf of our youngsters.

As supporting citizens, we can touch the future, both theirs and ours.

To the Editor:

During the last month, many articles and letters have appeared in this newspaper relating to the proposed SAD #44 school budget. The Telstar Educators' Association strongly supports the Board of Directors and superintendent in their request for the funds necessary to provide continued quality education and implement state-mandated programs. Without continued support, the positive district-wide achievements and attitudes of both students and faculty will be affected.

Here are some facts about SAD #44 that the voters should consider before attending the district budget meeting on May 28th:

- Eighty percent of our graduating classes apply for admission to post-secondary institutions and are accepted.

- Faculty members volunteer extraordinary amounts of their own time writing grants for school programs and win thousands of dollars for education in our district.

- On the recent 8th-grade Maine Educational Assessment testing, six of our students placed among the top 5 percent of all those tested throughout the state—this represents more than 5 percent of our present 8th grade.

- Through teachers' individual awards, our schools have acquired new equipment and books for classroom and library.

- Sixth-graders regularly qualify as Presidential Scholars. To qualify, students must score at or above the 90th percentile on nationally recognized standardized testing and have maintained an A average throughout elementary school.

- Elementary students routinely enter national writing contests and are winners. Recently a fifth-grader won the "Christa McAuliffe" writing contest and will attend the national conference.

- Faculty members have been cited as the best in what they do in Maine and New England—both at the elementary and secondary level. Faculty members have been singled out of the nation's teachers as representatives and delegates to conferences.

- Graduates have received thousands of dollars in scholarship aid based on the excellent scholastic training they have received in SAD #44 schools.

- Graduates of SAD #44 schools qualify for and attend Ivy League schools and military academies along with many others who receive acceptance to the schools of their choice.

- Three juniors have been cited as high scorers on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

- Seniors routinely score at or above the state average on College Boards testing.

- Innovative programs, beyond curriculum requirements, are developed and implemented by teachers. These programs often include dedicated volunteers and resource people.

- Musical and academic productions are regularly planned and presented by staff and students.

- Outstanding, cooperative efforts of elementary parent groups and teachers routinely provide extra experiences and equipment to students.

- Faculty members spend unlimited amounts of time in addition to their regular duties working on curriculum review committees, substance abuse and career education teams.

- Administrators, counselors, and faculty routinely put in 70-80 hour work weeks.

The school budget is the means by which the students, staff and facilities are supported. By supporting the budget you are supporting both the people and programs that are recognized as essential components of education.

Thank you for your continued support.
Telstar Educators' Association

To the Editor:

In light of the comments in last week's paper regarding the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program, I would like to describe the funding structure which has allowed our program to grow in its first decade to serve over 900 area adults annually and to award over 150 high school diplomas and GED's.

The State of Maine subsidizes expenditures for administration and instruction in adult education at varying rates—75 percent for high school completion, literacy, and vocational courses, 70 percent for administration, and 50 percent for general enrichment courses. The local match for these subsidies must come from local tax appropriation.

Registration fees may not be used as the local match, but they are used to cover all expenses other than salaries. The basic registration fee is kept as low as possible to encourage a broad base of participation. A fee increase is expected for next year, but the Advisory Council will work to keep it as small as possible.

Senior citizens are not charged a registration fee. However, all students pay for individual supplies. In fact, many of our courses cost students considerably more than the basic registration fee, when books and lab fees are added.

Our local tax appropriation is essential to allow us to participate in the state subsidy program, and our state support is very sound. The Legislature made a supplemental appropriation in April to provide additional funds for adult education subsidies, and recognizes that adult education is the most accessible way for Maine citizens to improve basic educational and vocational skills.

Our general enrichment courses cover a wide variety of subjects and skill areas. Craft classes are less than 10 percent of our offerings. The majority of general enrichment classes involve such skill areas as typing, welding, computers, health and first aid, fine arts, small business management, and home repair. One of the most successful new businesses in Bethel got its start as the result of a general enrichment class in SAD #44.

The key to successful programming is to develop a balanced selection which will appeal to a broad segment of the community. The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program allows those who do not have children in school to have a direct benefit from their school tax dollars.

In addition, adult education is an avenue for parents to upgrade their educational level, which creates a positive attitude toward learning and subsequent benefits for the K-12 system.

The requested $3,000 increase in the local appropriation will allow the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education to continue our current level of programs, and to expand the GED and vocational courses. We will be able to provide more career and job-seeking counseling, and to better serve the younger high school dropouts and the 31 percent of the adults in SAD #44 who do not have a high school diploma.

I ask all those who have benefited from our adult education program in the past and those who intend to participate in the future, to attend the District Budget Meeting on May 28 at Telstar and support our budget.

Perham plea bargain accepted—he gets 5 years

Last Wednesday in superior court in Auburn, Judge Robert W. Clifford accepted Jody Perham's pleas of guilty and sentenced the West Paris resident to five years in prison. After a brief meeting with his father outside the courtroom, the younger Perham was immediately taken to the state prison at Thomaston.

Officials at the county jail, in South Paris, said Mr. Perham had taken his few belongings—just some extra clothes and a couple of books—with him when he went to court that morning. He had been in jail—except for a couple of weeks in September when he escaped—since being arrested July 6, 1985 in West Paris for allegedly assaulting a group of people in a West Paris home.

The 31-year-old Perham looked considerably older last Wednesday than he had when he first appeared in district court for arraignment last July. His dark hair was longer—down to his shoulders—and his face was etched with deeper lines. He wore a green T-shirt over a long-sleeve sweat shirt, and jeans.

He made it clear he was not happy with his fate. "I don't think I have much choice in the matter," he told the judge, concerning the judge's advice that if he pleaded guilty he would be giving up his right to a trial before a jury and his right to confront witnesses.

Nevertheless, Mr. Perham reversed his earlier innocent pleas—made last October—and pleaded guilty to the following: that he attempted to murder Beatrice Lang by stabbing her at her home July 6, 1985; that he attempted to murder her friend, John Mailoux, by stabbing him at the same time; that he assaulted Mrs. Lang, her son Edwin, and Mr. Mailoux by hitting them with a wrench during the same incident; and that he escaped from the county jail.

Each of the two counts of attempted murder carried maximum sentences of 20 years, the judge told the defendant, while each of the three counts of aggravated assault carried a maximum sentence of 10 years. The escape charge carried a maximum sentence of three years.

Thus, Mr. Perham could have been sentenced to 100 years in prison.

The plea bargain worked out between his court-appointed attorney, David Whittier, and District Attorney Janet Mills agreed that in exchange for his guilty pleas, the state would recommend a sentence of five years: four for the attempted murder and assault charges, and one for the escape charge.

Perham explained to the judge that although he was not happy pleading guilty, the offer of reduced sentences convinced him to do it. "That had the most to do with it," he said.

"Knowing all the circumstances, I couldn't ask for a better deal," he added.

[According to an official at the state prison in Thomaston, Mr. Perham can shave almost a year and a half off his five-year sentence if he is on good behavior. Also, the 293 days he spent in the county jail will be deducted from his prison term. Thus, he could be finished with his sentence in 2½ years. Parole would not apply in his case, the official said.]

There were some anxious moments in the courtroom when it looked as if Mr. Perham were going to recant his pleas. "I would like to say I'm being railroaded," he told the judge.

Defense Attorney Whittier explained to the judge, "It has to do with the system." He was the second court-appointed attorney to represent Mr. Perham—the first one leaving private practice. And the judge was the third judge to be involved in the case.

Mr. Perham nodded his assent to his attorney's explanation: "It's very confusing."

The district attorney defended the terms of the plea bargain to the judge, pointing out that the defendant had no prior felony record. She also alluded to the fact that he had a record of emotional problems and hinted that if the case went to trial there would possibly be an insanity defense.

The victims of the assault were present in the courtroom, and DA Mills asked them if they were satisfied with the plea bargain. The said they were.

Ms. Mills told the judge if the case were actually tried, she would call the victims to testify, as well as medical personnel who cared for them. She would also call as witnesses the arresting officers.

from the jail to the courthouse by car. If found guilty of the murder charge, the defendant could be sentenced from 25 years to life imprisonment.

After being sworn in, the jury was taken to the place where Mr. Stevens' bullet-ridden body was found Nov. 17, 1985, in Town Farm field, in Oxford.

Later in the day, back in the courtroom, the widow of the victim, Robin Stevens, 31, testified that her husband usually left for his job at Paris Farmers Union in South Paris at around 6:30 a.m. (The prosecution hopes to prove that Mr. Stevens gave a lift to Mr. Bradley, who then shot him and stole his truck and other belongings.) Mrs. Stevens identified a rifle, cattle prod and photos recovered from the pickup truck after it and the defendant were apprehended in Sanford, Fla., Nov. 19, 1985.

Also testifying for the defense yesterday were the president of Paris Farmers Union, who testified as to the victim's punctuality; a deputy sheriff, who testified to finding the body; and the Paris police chief, who identified the body.

The judge in the case is Justice Carl Bradford. The prosecutor in the case is Assistant Attorney General Nick Gess, while David Whittier is the defense attorney.

Court officials expect the trial to last four days.

Attention all BEARS: The new equipment placement lists for 98 will be coming your way soon. Be sure to study this list because one week after its release the equipment will be changed around. Also, when making out the run sheet be sure to write the date as 05/86, not 5/86.

The BEARS would like to devote part of our column this week to pay tribute to Larry Patterson. Although not a member of the BEARS, he was important to us.

Whenever Larry was around he would show us where to go, help us lift our patients, run equipment, or direct traffic. He almost always had a portable radio and would call us to ask if we wanted his help, which we did many times.

We the BEARS will miss his voice on the radio and his unselfish help on calls. The call on Monday, May 12, was one of the most difficult ones that we have ever had. We shall cherish the memory of Larry and all the good work he did for the BEARS and others in the community. To Larry and his family we say, "Thank you for giving us the opportunity to know such a fine young man." We shall miss you.

"Even if we fail," said Andover's Laura Hutchins, "our taxpayers can't come back on us and say there's something we should have done. We tried."

The selectmen agreed unanimously that no matter how the vote goes at the district meeting, they would continue as a consultative group and would try to bring in selectmen from other school districts to bring pressure on the Legislature to stop mandating school programs without providing funding for those programs.

High Street West Paris

By VIVA WHITMAN

A lovely, sunny Wednesday morning here on High Street. The trees are sure getting their summer gowns and one can't see as far through the woods as a short while ago. I love to see the colors of Spring as they are so pretty and remind me of the fall colors. Some trees have the pretty green leaves growing, and there are so many different greens; also, the red in some of the leaves, blended in with the green, make a picture no one could paint and do justice to. Guess I am just one who loves the colors of nature and enjoys watching the changes that take place.

I have had another of those weeks that didn't amount to much because of a virus bug that liked me too well. Wish I could understand why all these ailments like me so much. If I could find out, I'd do my best to change things in a hurry.

Mother's Day went by and I laid in bed most of the day but got up Monday to go to Lewiston to help my daughter who had contacted the same type of bug and with-out roller skates couldn't keep up with the girls. Stayed overnight and came home yesterday when Peggy and Joe came to Lewiston for eye exams. Couldn't help much as I had hoped but did what I could. Thanks to the doctor giving me a shot on Monday, I got over being nauseous so I could get around. That was Nomi's worst trouble and that was better when I left yesterday morning.

It is hard to believe that a year ago yesterday, my smallest granddaughter was born. How she has grown, but is a little slower than Cori was, in getting around. Doesn't walk yet but says a lot of words. No two children are alike even if you had a dozen of them by the same parents. The girls always help me to feel better and more special as they show their affection for this old Grandma. Kariann hollared when I left yesterday, just as much as to say, don't go, Nan nan. That is what she calls me, I had her doing more walking along the sofa and chairs, holding on but doing it by herself and she sure liked that. They are both lovely little girls if I do say so.

Lawrence and Russell have been clearing out big rocks from the field out back and it looks a lot better and will make it easier to keep the grass mowed. They have made the garden by the rhubarb larger and Lawrence planted asparagus, cabbage and cauliflower. I hope I am right but believe those were the things he said he was planting. Covering them with plastic jugs will keep the cold from hurting them and they were getting large and needed planting. He has other things ready, also. Just need the warm weather to be sure they won't freeze after planting them.

Peggy has been busy fixing up her place and getting screen doors on and other things. I seem to be the one who is behind like the old cow's tail but didn't invite that virus bug to come visit so won't feel too gully about it.

I am behind in getting my little dresses done for birthdays and that makes me feel the worst. Got to see what I can do today and hope for good luck. Got home to find a letter from a friend of mine and she said she bet I was sick again as she hadn't heard from me. Our letters usually cross or come near to it most every time we write each other so guess she could tell. It was time for another letter to come her way. Will have to find a few extra minutes and type a few letters.

While in Lewiston yesterday, I called at the Human Service Department. I don't know how many others have been used as I have where food stamps are concerned but expect there are plenty. The first notice I got after I got $13 in my Sadness struck our town again in the death of 17 year old Jonathan Stevens. Sympathy is extended to his family. Madeline Jacobs is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital after surgery on a fractured hip, having fallen in her home. Cards will be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Bacon spent the weekend with their daughter and husband, Bob and Kathy Bessette, granddaughter Emily and grandson Marc in Fairfax, Vt.

Forward Fellowship members are reminded that on May 30 they will be going out to eat. Those who were not at the last meeting and are planning on going, should notify Frances Bradeen, before May 26.

Mrs. Elsie Piirainen, Vernon and Miriam Inman and grandson Vernie visited with Charles and Vicky Sanborn in Conway, N.H., on Sunday.

West Paris Senior Citizens met at the Legion Hall on May 6 for a potluck dinner and monthly meeting. There were 32 members and two guests present. A pretty centerpiece for the table was a maybasket filled with flowers. It was nice to have the Fords, Gilberts and Bessettes back with us.

Charlotte Cole from Greenwood entertained with music and songs.

The next meeting will be June 3 with a potluck dinner and meeting. Gordon Gillies of Bethel will speak on estate planning.

Anyone having suggestions for trips, should bring them to the June meeting, so they can be discussed.

Members are planning to attend a smorgasbord dinner at the Country Way on July 1.

government checks said I would get the same amount of food stamps I had formerly received. A few days later I got another notice that my $22, which I had heard nothing about, would be changed to $13 because of the increase in my checks. The next month I got a notice that my $13 was being changed to $10 for the month.

I had a lot of medical expenses in March and drove over 400 miles to go to doctors and to the hospital and expected this would entitle me to a few more food stamps but got a notice that my $20, which had never been mentioned before, was being changed to $10 and that is what I would receive beginning in May. I wish some of those big wigs who are running for office and those already in office had to live on these small amounts.

It is maddening to work as hard as you can for as long as you can and then be humiliated by being told it is all government regulations if you need more food stamps. They leave me no money for the teeth you might need, nothing for glasses, nothing for insurance for one's car and so many other things I could mention. I list these things as they are things I need and can't have and I am sure there are many others in the same situation. If these people who are running for governor and other government seats want the people to vote for them, they better take a look at what is going on and change a few things. Even the surplus food has been cut so we don't get what we used to. I would like to see some of the money that is spent so foolishly, used to help those who really need. Some can lie and get what they need but I'm not one of them. Maybe I need to take lessons from some of them and be able to get by better. Wish I new the answer so life would be a little less of a worry. Sickness is enough without the worry of how to pay bills. Enough for now but wish some others would put in their opinions of government regulations for the poor people. We all need to speak out.

Margery Swan narrowly escaped being critically injured Monday (May 11) when she was helping dig a well at the camp lot and was struck in the head with the well digger. It came down on top of her hitting just above her left eye. She was taken to Norway hospital where she was given a thorough examination and the gash over her eye stitched up. She was released to recuperate at home and is being told to take it easy. She says she looks like a raccoon as she is sporting two black eyes. There are a lot of different ideas about the best way to build a home satellite system. You owe it to yourself to shop around and see what is available. Examine the equipment closely and ask questions about anything that you don't understand. Keep in mind that the sooner you'll know the true cost of any system it after you've seen the end of its service life. Try to separate the facts from the promises and buy from a reputable manufacturer. Study the choices, because only after you know something about the various solutions will you be able to make an intelligent choice between them.

Story Hour will be held Thursday, May 22, from 3:00 to 4:00 instead of Tuesday. Belinda Poor will give a presentation on Dental Health and Nutrition. Belinda is a registered dental hygienist at Dr. Gallant's office in Rumford. All area children are invited to attend.

Andover Fire Department and Rescue is having a food sale and a free blood pressure clinic Saturday, May 24, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Andover Fire Station. Any age is welcomed to have their blood pressure checked.

Another nice week of weather has been enjoyed and as I write this today (Friday) we are beginning to get a nice gentle rain, badly needed after so much wind.

Bernard and I returned home from "an attempt at fishing" on Saturday, May 10, to find that Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgkins, Adrienne and Joshua, from Norway had been here during our absence and left a lovely Mother's Day card and a rose bush. The old saying that goes "If you want to have company just go away yourself" rings true so often. We caught no fish but enjoyed the relaxation anyway.

Master Matthew Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roy of South Rumford, spent Saturday, May 10, with his grandmother, Mrs. Helena Goodwin, East Andover. They walked down her and he was searching for our French poodle, Gigi. The last time he was here she was outside and he thought she was pretty nice. She loves children and gets so excited when she sees them coming.

On Sunday, May 11, Mrs. Helena Goodwin enjoyed a Mother's Day dinner in Dixfield with family members. Those present were daughters, Mrs. June Roy of South Rumford, Mrs. Lida Browne of East Wilton, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ellen Carey of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins and Gigi visited with Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Adams, Robbie and Ken, in Sweden on Sunday, May 11. Greg had agreed to do some work on our car so we took it down and left it. Our other two vehicles have been in the garage this week!

As we were leaving for Sweden Sunday, I saw a movement in the garage and upon closer inspection, I found a full grown wild rabbit poking much like the picture of Peter Rabbit hiding behind Mr. MacGregor's wheelbarrow, except this one was hiding behind my moped. He attempted to make his exit through the spokes in the front wheel but finding it impossible he quickly pulled his head out of the spokes and shot through between the front and rear wheels, without a backward glance. When I got out of the garage to see where he went, he was down in the middle of the field and still moving fast.

Arthur Hutchins was stricken Wednesday night and was taken to the Rumford Community Hospital, where he is a patient in the intensive care unit at this writing.

We are sorry to have Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson leaving Andover. Dave gave such a big boost to the choir at the First Congregational Church and both he and Joyce have helped in so many ways. Dave has begun his new job in Windham and Joyce will be leaving as soon as school is done. They will surely be missed.

Mrs. Leon Simmonds, Andover, has spent this week at Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston undergoing treatment. She is due to come home today. Out thoughts and prayers have been with you, Avis.

Welcome home to Mrs. Minnie Akers, who returned from Florida, Monday, May 12. Her daughter, Mrs. William Swan, met her at the Portland Jetport. Mr. and Mrs. John Flanders and family, Andover, have been a new addition to their farm family—a beautiful foal. The Flanders family will also be leaving Andover soon. Mr. Flanders has new employment in Sangerville, Maine, and the rest of the family will be leaving after school's out, I believe.

I have just returned home after spending two days at my daughter Lorene Cobb's babysitting. She had to go to the North County Memorial Hospital for surgery. The doctor thought she could probably come home the same day, but the anesthesia made her very ill, so they kept her overnight, and she came home today.

There will be a Memorial Day commemoration on Monday, May 26, at 3 p.m. at Andover. Locke Mills American Legion Post, Girl Scouts, and the local horseshoe club will all be participating in the parade. The same route, as usual, will be taken, ending at the Common with the laying of the wreaths and an address and invocation. Alanson Cummings will be the guest speaker.

The monthly supper at the First Congregational Church, Andover, will be May 24 with two settings (5:30 and 6:15) featuring roast beef, as you like it, prepared by Bernard Hutchins, with baked potatoes, cole slaw, tomato aspic, green beans, hot rolls, assorted cakes and beverage. Come join us and enjoy a delicious supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones, East Andover, left this afternoon to spend the weekend with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Jones, Shannon and Callie Ann, in Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward White Kreiton, Farmer Hill, East Andover, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born May 12 at the Rumford Community Hospital. He weighed 8 pounds, 1 ounce, and has been named Nigel Victor. He was welcomed home by big sisters, Nicole, 3, and Angela, age 1. Maternal grandparents are Mrs. Barbara Hayden, East Andover, and John Richardson, Sr., Rumford Center. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Farrington, East Andover (and the Dixfield Health Care Center). Congratulations to all.

Mrs. Sandi Downs, South Andover, has summer employment at Northeast Harbor. Initially she will be staying with friends until her full time employment June 8. She will be leaving May 22 if everything goes according to plan. Our congratulations go to Toby Farrington, East Andover, who won the Christa McAuliffe essay writing contest for the state of Maine. He is entitled to a trip to New York to attend the July 5 re-opening ceremonies of the Statue of Liberty. Toby is a 5th grade student at the Andover Elementary School.

Mrs. Debbie Brown is helping Mrs. Grace Nelson.

Mother's Sunday was celebrated here at the church service. Homemade bread was on sale at both churches. Next Sunday will be Pentecost Sunday and there will be a guest speaker.

Mrs. Inez Barker visited her son, Hubert, and family, in New Hampshire one day. We are all glad that she can get out again. She has always been such an active worker in everything, always willing to share her car with the elderly. We all miss her.

Mrs. Sarah Grover visited with Mrs. Mertice Barker Wednesday and helped her get plants ready for the sale that the church will soon have.

Mrs. Mary Jones had a basket party at the home of her mother Mrs. Dwight Grover, Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Eleanor Nelson went to Massachusetts for the weekend to visit with her daughter and family.

Mrs. Betty Stearns and Mrs. Helen Grover attended the retired teachers meeting at Oxford Saturday.

Bob Tripp came home from the hospital Friday feeling much better.

Mrs. Patty Eastman of Lovell took Grace Nelson to Bridgton Tuesday to see her doctor. She is confined to her home with a broken ankle.

Minerva Dudley is in the hospital at Bridgton for tests. She expects to be home again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino of Melrose, Mass., are here for a few weeks. He is getting his garden ready.

Several people are already decorating their cemetery lots. The cemetery looks very nice since it has been mowed.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE MEETS IN AUGUSTA

Barbara D. Brown and Al Barth attended the Republican State Committee meeting in Augusta on Saturday, May 17. Mrs. Brown has been the state committee-woman for Oxford County for several terms and Mr. Barth was elected Oxford County committeeman at the state convention held in Portland in April.

The meeting was primarily an organizational one as many new people were elected at the convention. Items of business included an invitation to hold the July meeting in Fort Fairfield at the annual Maine Potato Festival, the treasurer's report and how the state convention was both a financial as well as a rousing success for all who attended. Plans were also laid to get out the vote for the June primary and in November. Party unity was again the key and all pledged their efforts to work together to bring victory at the polls.

Spokespersons for Senator Bill Cohen, Representative Olympia Snowe and gubernatorial candidate John McKernan reported briefly on the activities of each.

The next committee meeting will be held in Augusta on June 15.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

At six o'clock these mornings the sun is still so low that its rays scarcely glaze the pond out front. Mists often rise a foot above the surface and vanish with the coming light like a ghost very reluctant to flee before the arrival of day. Drops of jewels sparkle and glitter on the grass by the water's edge. No wind to shatter the crystals. All is quiet. The sun then appears over Noyes Mountain. The mists evaporate. Where outlines were a blur, there is clearness.

I love these moments. In another hour a quick breeze ruffles the surface of the pond. The time of magic is over.

"Our" pond tells us much. It's the eye of the land. It is swift to change from rain-dimpled to sparkling blue, to flat, to waves of roughness, to a misty sheen, or to black, and it gives us the direction of the wind.

I took a short walk to my favorite flower-bed. At this time no one has disturbed it. "Pink, small and punctual, aromatic low," describes, but does not do justice to their trailing arbutus, whose waxy blossoms and delicious breath are among the earliest prophecies of flower-scented summer. The common name in Maine for this tiny fragrant spring flower is Mayflower. They have hidden beneath brown leaves which protected the buds formed last fall. One must lift their leaves to find the exquisite white or pink flowers. Thoughtless people have pulled this flower up by the roots so that it isn't as plentiful, as it once was. We should enjoy but not destroy. It is seldom that a human being can look ahead to what will be after his own life span, but let's keep them growing for the next generation.

On my way home I paused often to look at another spring flower. By the brook the water dropped into a tiny pool. It always runs crooked, poking its way under roots and sticks ensnared along the way. There was a continuousness in its rhythm that was hypnotic and comforting. The moss and grass was padded greenness beneath my feet. A tiny burst of violets grew in one spot, blue eyes in the shadows.

Peace was here in this quiet and lovely spot. For myself I was glad for the now.

I was happy to see Mr. and Mrs. Rosebreast at the feeder this morning, May 11. They were right on time.

Clyde Morgan came home from Stephens Memorial Hospital on Monday after a few days there.

Our callers have been Ernest Mundt, Neva Coolidge, Sylvia Luxton, Ann Holt, Bethel; Carl and Lettie Brooks, West Paris; David Holt, Dexter; Leonas and Fay Holt, John and Dot Betts, Fred,

Rena, Betty Curtis, Denise Adams, and children, Local.

At the home of Frank and Dot Curtis their callers were: Mrs. Glenn Strait and daughter, Melanie, Freeport; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hodgdon, and two children, Hollis; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; and from town, Irene Stevens, Kathy Curtis, Eva Felton, Fred and Rena Curtis.

Lucy Bragg and son, Tommy, West Sumner, visited her mother, Eva Felton, on Sunday.

We really had a surprise late afternoon when 38 bluejays met for a "convention" under and on our feeder. One perched at the very top was a candidate for something and was "speaking his piece."

A beautiful blue cloud.

Doris Hayes, Fay Holt, and I were at Ledgewood Nursing Home in West Paris for a short time to greet Edna Tamlander on her 91st birthday. She lived here for many years and we have never forgotten her love and kindness. Her two daughters, two granddaughters, and two great grandchildren joined her also.

Fred and Rena Curtis had a gathering of 30 at their home on Mother's Day.

Doris Hayes' Saturday callers were Glenn Hayes, Gray; Betty Hayes, Auburn. Doris went to Gray with Glenn and out to dinner on Mother's Day with Glenn and family.

The bean hole bean supper at West Sumner on May 10 was a huge success, and the proceeds were for a worthy cause. The dance was also a sell-out and everyone had an enjoyable evening. It was like "old home days" with "toe tapping" music.

Arnold Coffin and Doris Lawrence were at Stephens Memorial Hospital Monday for blood tests. Tuesday morning at 7 a.m. Doris went to the hospital for a biopsy and went home Wednesday morning.

Calling at Lawrences: Joe Kalinowski, Jeanne Millett, Maureen Heath, Amanda and Jeremy, Ellen Coffin, Eva Judkins, Steve Millett, Richard Felt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Barbara Gallant, Odell Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Records.

The game warden, Jim Davis, came to dispose of a fawn that was laying in the ditch with a some of its legs broken, evidently hit by a car. There is a deer crossing near Lillian Robbins' and there have been several accidents lately. Should be a sign there.

The Vatchers front lawn is white with wild strawberry blossoms. The birds will feast later. As I write these items there are some large robins in the front yard, with the red breasts, that are very glad. They look like they have had a lot to eat. Maybe they have been at Viva's bird feeder.

Joe bought Eveline a microwave oven for Mother's Day and he has been reading up on it and experimenting. He couldn't afford to build on a room special for it, so it is hanging on the wall handy to the kitchen table. It does a beautiful job of warming left overs and rolls. We haven't cooked anything in it yet but will try it soon. Eveline said once that she would never have one, but it's nice.

Joe Vatcher went to the ear specialist in Portland Friday, May 16, and also called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neale Jr. at West Buxton.

Will be lilacs be blossomed for Memorial Day? Maybe if we have a few good days.

School volunteers feted

Over 30 teachers and school volunteers gathered at Crescent Park School last Wednesday evening for a potluck dinner to celebrate the support parents and friends in the community have shown for the elementary schools. The teachers thanked each of the individuals who gave up their time to help in classrooms, on field trips, and with other school-related activities.

Jean Bass thanked the retiring TAP officers: Vicky Myers, Karen Paul and Mary McVey and she announced the officers for next year: president, Jean Bass; vice president, Linda Wheeler; treasurer, Roxanne Carson; secretary, Linda Morgan; ways and means, Lori Bergeron. VIP will be organized by Kathie McCluskey, Vicki Rackliffe and Marguerite Graham.

Principal Nancy Davis introduced singer/songwriter Doug Day, who has been the artist-in-residence at Ethel Bisbee and Crescent Park schools this past week.

Mr. Day spoke briefly about how impressed he was with what he had seen in the schools during his visit.

Mrs. Davis then introduced Will Graham, who was the guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Graham talked about the importance of written and spoken language in learning, and an interesting discussion about language and learning followed.

The volunteer program is the result of the organization and dedication of the VIP coordinators, Kathie McCluskey, Vicki Rackliffe and Mary McVey. They are hoping more parents and friends will volunteer next year to expand this important contribution to education in Bethel.

Congratulations Gould graduates

84 to graduate Saturday at Gould's 150th commencement

Eighty-four Gould Academy seniors will march to the familiar strains of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" this Saturday at 10:30 a.m., under the maple trees in front of the William Bingham Auditorium. The 150th commencement marks the mid-way point in the academy's year-long sesquicentennial celebration.

Baccalaureate services will be held at 9 a.m. in the West Parish Congregational Church. Headmaster Emeritus Edmond J. Vachon, of Bethel, will deliver the baccalaureate address—"A Voice from the Past"—to the graduating class and parents. Following the service there will be enough time to chat with parents and friends before the procession starts at 10:30.

The commencement speaker is Dr. John Rassias, professor of French at Dartmouth College.

The sesquicentennial class is one of the largest Gould Academy classes to graduate in recent years. Following is a list of the graduates and the colleges they will attend next year.

Gould proctors chosen

Fourteen members of the junior class at Gould Academy were selected as proctors for next school year. The 14 were selected at an all-school assembly, primarily by their classmates, with input from incumbent proctors and faculty members. They are picked based on leadership, dependability, fairness and initiative.

While the proctors are primarily tasked with being leaders in their dormitories, they fulfill a vital leadership role throughout the school year in many activities.

Cooperating closely with program director Lorenzo Baker, each proctor undergoes training during the spring to better prepare himself or herself for the challenges that lie ahead.

Proctors are on hand from the very first day new students arrive on campus and are central to their successful orientation to campus life.

The 14 juniors are chafing at the bit to tackle their first assignment, which will be to help organize a three-day orientation trip for next year's new students just before classes begin. Some will join faculty members and take to the Mahosuc Mountains on hikes, while others will bicycle to Height of Land and canoe the waters of the Rangeley Lakes.

Instructor Baker considers the leadership of students by the students central to the mission of Gould Academy. "The problem," he says, "is trying to maintain the energy to keep up with their enthusiasm and drive."

Chosen as head proctors for next year were Peter Bizier, of Norway, Jon Komlosy, of Yarmouth, and Mark Van Winkle, of South Casco.

Other elected proctors are: Angel Adams, Arlington, Mass.; David Barstow, Port Clyde; Amity Cutter, Rockport, Mass.; Derek Dresser, Bethel; Tim Hodsdon, Brownville; Molly Lauck, Portland; Greg Ng, Los Angeles, Calif.; Barbie Robinson, Amherst, Mass.; Jen Sanborn, Butler, Ala.; Jimmy Simbe, Los Angeles, Calif.; Heather Tobin, Blue Hill; and Julie Young, Auburn.

DEFENDING AGAINST A SHOT ON GOAL, Gould players (in dark jerseys) successfully held Hebron in check during a muddy game this season.

Gould Academy inducts 11 new members into National Honor Society

At a special assembly, 11 Gould Academy students were inducted into the Gould chapter of the National Honor Society. Selected on the basis of leadership, character, scholarship and service by vote of the faculty, the group represents both the ideas and goals of the school as well as those of the national organization.

Opening the assembly, science faculty member A. James Fiske focused on the criteria by which students are elected to the society and how in today's world those lofty ideals seem often absent in the way nations conduct themselves both at home and abroad. "You represent a group which dares to take a stand and separate themselves from those who go with the flow," he told the inductees.

"You are willing to meet with excellence not only the academic challenges of Gould Academy but also those which call for service to the school, the personal strength of character to do what is right, often in the face of strong peer pressure to go the easy route," Mr. Fiske has a personal stake in the National Honor Society in that he was inducted at the age of 41 when he was the chapter advisor at Telstar Regional High School. Seniors selected were Nick Hardigg, New Boston, Mass.; Marybeth Isham, Albany Township; and Rainy Orteca, Poland Spring. Juniors inducted were: Kurt Crandall, Bethel; Amity Cutter, Rockport, Mass.; Tim Hodsdon, Brownville; Greg Ng, Los Angeles, Calif.; Jen Sanborn, Butler, Ala.; Mark Van Winkle, South Casco; sophomores elected to provisional membership were: Rebecca Garnett, Newcastle; and Christine McCarthy, Acton.

As opposing bats pounded everything Gould's pitcher threw up in a recent contest, first baseman Christie McCarthy seemed to be thinking it would never end.

But the Huskies finally got a chance at the plate, and Christie was all smiles after beating out a grounder.

We applaud the Class of 1986. Good luck in your chosen careers.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Members of the Bethel Historical Society received along with the latest issue of the "Bethel Courier" a questionnaire relating to long-range planning. Response to these questions regarding membership sentiment on the future direction of the society has been good and it is hoped that as many members as possible will make their views known so that the Long-Range Planning Committee can take any comments into consideration in preparing their report. Anyone who has not responded should do so as soon as possible.

Much appreciation is due society member James Monahan for presenting the society with a new donation box which will be put to good use in the years ahead.

Two members of the Waterford Historical Society visited the Dr. Moses Mason House last week to gain insights into collection management.

Society charter and life member Agnes Haines has completed two more indexes for Oxford County town histories. Recently completed were new indexes for David Noyes' "History of Norway" (1852) and M.F. King's "Annals of Oxford" (1903). These are now available for use in the society's archives, the Eva Bean Research Room.

The spring issue of the "Courier" is now at the printers and is expected to be mailed out later in the month. It will feature items commemorating the society's twentieth anniversary and a book review by life member Edward H. Hastings of Dorothy J. Holden's "The Life and Work of Ernest M. Skinner." This issue will also contain the conclusion of the article on Bethel during World War II.

Anyone interested is reminded that the annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show will be held on May 31 and the Dr. Moses Mason Birthday Party (which this year will also honor the society's 20 years) on June 1.

Memorial Day observances set for Locke Mills

Past State Commander of the American Legion, Ed Roach, of Rumford, who is also the State Americanism Chairman, will be the Memorial Day speaker at Locke Mills, Monday, May 26.

Services start with the flag raising, at 8 a.m., at the Legion hall, on the Gore Road. It will fly day and night until Nov. 11. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

The parade units will form at 8:30 and start at 9 a.m. sharp, to the drumbeats of the Telstar Band, directed by Harry Davis.

Leading the parade will be Commander Earl Colby and President Leah Deagan, accompanied by the 1986 Poppy Girl, Amy Patten, and followed by the colors.

At the honor roll, the program consists of a prayer by Chaplain Kovi George, band music, speaker Roach and the presentation of the Poppy awards by Chairman Vera Cross. Wreaths will be laid by President Deagan and dropped on the water by Chaplain Fannie Cummings, for those men lost at sea.

At the cemetery, one flag will be placed for all the veterans, followed by prayer, rifle volley and taps.

All veterans, the Daughters of Union Veterans, Bryant Pond, WWI Barracks and Bethel, all boy and girl scout troops, youth groups and children are invited to march. Ice cream will be served the young folks.

A car will be furnished for the WWI veterans and the disabled.

In case of rain, the services will be held in the hall.

At 10:30 a.m. there will be a brief service and band music at East Bethel Cemetery. Time permitting, some will attend the Bethel services.

At 1:30 p.m., the American Legion colors, guard and firing squad will march in Bryant Pond, where the D.U.V. conduct the program. The Telstar Band will participate in a total of four ceremonies.

At 3:30 p.m., the Legion colors, the color guard and the firing squad will travel to Andover for their final duty of the day.

WWI veteran Alanson Cummings, charter member of the Jackson-Silver Post, will be the speaker in Andover.

On Sunday, May 25, members of the Jackson-Silver Post and Unit are to attend the 9 a.m. services at the Locke Mills Union Church in a body.

Ambulance garage costs right around estimates

The controversial Bethel ambulance garage costs are all in. According to figures provided by Town Manager Rodney Lynch, the building was built for less than what town meeting had appropriated.

Total cost was $69,525. Town meeting had appropriated $72,241, raised by taking out a loan with the Bethel Savings Bank. Including interest earned while the money remained in the town's account, the amount available for constructing the two-bay garage and training room totaled $73,995.

With the remaining $4,470, plus $2,500 raised by the B.E.A.R.S., town officials hope to get the garage area paved. The question will be on the town meeting warrant next month.

The costs break down as follows: architect fees—$6,321; contractor's labor—$19,162; Western Maine Supply (for building supplies)—$19,510; Brooks Bros. (for plumbing and heating supplies)—$5,764; other materials—$7,795; inspections—$817; electrical—$4,593; contractual services—$877; town-furnished services—$4,683. (The town paid an additional $1,207 to put contractor Peter Kuzyk and his assistant on the town's worker's comp policy. The town road crew excavated the site and installed sewer and water, at a cost of $3,476.)

SAD 44 ADULT EDUCATION FACTS;

— Our program gives a second chance to high school drop-outs and adults who need re-training to seek jobs.

— Our program allows those without children in school to have a direct benefit from school tax dollars.

— Our budget is 1% of the K-12 budget, yet our program is able to serve 900 people annually and has been recognized for excellence by the state of Maine.

— Our funding is generously subsidized by the State. Legally, this state money must be matched by local tax dollars. We need local funds as well to qualify for special grants for vocational courses.

— We generate income from fees equal in amount to the cost of general enrichment programs. If we were to use these funds to pay directly for instruction we would become ineligible for state subsidies of $7500. Instead we use our fees to pay for all non-subsidizable costs, such as equipment and supplies.

— General Enrichment courses include First Aid, Typing, Parenting Skills, Small Business Training, Career Planning, Accounting, and Welding. During an average semester, less than 10% of the course offerings are craft classes.

Our goals for 1987 include expanded high school completion for drop-outs and adults, plus vocational counseling and courses.

Please help us launch our second decade by supporting our budget at the District meeting on Wednesday, May 28, 7 p.m. at Telstar.

New group organized to support summer rec

A new organization of volunteers has been formed in the greater Bethel area as a direct result of the Volunteerism Workshop given by Dr. Eva Schindler-Rainman at Gould Academy earlier this month. The organization began as a way to make a listing of the volunteer organizations and their services in and around Bethel.

The first meeting was held last Tuesday evening at the Legion hall in Locke Mills. Phyllis Dock, Vicki Rackliffe, Fran Bernier, Earl Colby, Charlie Mason, Marguerite Graham, Brian Strickland and Irene Pike elected Brian Strickland to be chairman of the committee. The group felt that there is a need in Bethel and the surrounding towns for youth recreation. The goal is to organize a week's worth of activities for children and young people this summer, with the hope of raising funds to support a summer recreation program for community children during the summer of 1987.

Volunteer organizations in the community will be contacted soon for help in organizing this program. If community members have suggestions or are interested in supporting Volunteers for Youth Recreation, please call the Chamber of Commerce office. The next meeting will be held on May 27, at 6:30 p.m., at the Legion hall, in Locke Mills. All are welcome to attend.

EARLYN W. WHEELER

Earlyn W. Wheeler, 75, died Thursday, May 15, 1986, at a Rockport hospital. He was born in Bethel, a son of Fred and Mertella Wheeler. He graduated from Gould Academy in 1928.

Mr. Wheeler was a well known landscape gardener. He was a member of the Rockport Businessmen's Club, and a Seabees veteran of World War II. His wife, Pearl Nash Wheeler, died last year.

Surviving are a son, Peter A. Wheeler of North Reading, Mass.; a daughter, Nancy W. Pike of Union; a brother Edward Wheeler of Bethel; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at Laite Funeral Home, with burial at the Pine Grove Cemetery, West Bethel.

COMMITTAL SERVICE HELD

The Committal Service for WWI Army veteran Irving Martin, age 92, last Tuesday, was a very fitting farewell. Sixteen uniformed Legionnaires from the Jackson-Silver Post made it to the Martin Cemetery, in Greenwood, near his boyhood home.

Five men were in charge of the colors and eight formed the firing squad. The volleys were followed by taps and echo.

Legionnaire Roland Lord did the brief but appropriate service. Warren Smith and Alanson Cummings gently folded the huge American flag, and WWI veteran Cummings presented it, with thanks for the deceased's service to his country, to his niece, Lona Bass, of Saco.

As a last gesture of gratitude, a little red poppy was placed on his casket.

Attending from away were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bass, of Saco, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Howland, of Littleton, N.H.
